Rationale (emphatic and emotional):

The Singapore Cricket Club stands as a historical pillar in the heart of our cosmopolitan society, echoing the vibrant narrative of Singapore's 174-year journey. Each name we propose to protect encompasses the essence of our shared heritage and the myriad experiences that have unfolded within these walls. They represent not only our love for sports but also the very spirit of community that thrives in this multicultural tapestry we call home.

These names transcend mere identification and are far more words on a sign; they embody the storied past of every match played, every celebration held, and every friendship forged here. To the generations who trained on the Padang at dawn, to families who have laughed and shared afternoons on The Oval & Verandah, to the confessions exchanged over a drink in the Men's Bar, each name carries a lineage of moments that shaped who we are. They are the fingerprints of our collective past: laughter, triumph, comfort, consolation, ritual and pride woven into the very social fabric on the club. The memories made are eternal.

To change these names would mean severing the ties that bind present members to the countless predecessors who built, nurtured, and loved this institution. It risks erasing the tales whispered beneath the Verandah's eaves, the cheers that still resonate around the Stumps, and the unwavering warmth of The Deli & Courtyard that has embraced generations. These names anchor us in our shared identity, providing newcomers a sense of belonging while reassuring long-standing members that the core of what they cherish remains intact.

Preservation is a profound act of respect—not only for the founders who envisioned a sanctuary for the sport, but also for the dedicated volunteers and staff who have tirelessly maintained it, and for the families whose memories are deeply woven into the fabric of our spaces. Establishing this protection in our Club rules affirms our responsibility to uphold legacy, choose continuity over fleeting trends, and ensure that future generations inherit a living institution, enriched by its past rather than a rebranded shell.

For the sake of our collective memory, our identity, and the soul of the Singapore Cricket Club, we earnestly urge all members to adopt this resolution and commit to preserving these cherished names—today, tomorrow, and for all who will call this beloved place home.
